Wechat Pay extends Chinapayments.com

Highlights

- Wechat Pay now available on Chinapayments.com for the payment of Australian bills
- Chinapayments.com sets a processing record of $696k in February

Novatti Group Limited (ASX:NOV) (Novatti or ‘the Company’) is an online financial transactions processor, financial technology developer and an applicant for a Restricted Authorised Deposit Institution (RADI) banking license. Novatti is pleased to provide the market with an update on its Chinapayments.com business unit.

Wechat Pay is now available on Chinapayments.com.

As such, Chinapayments.com and its Australian bill payment services are now available to the vast majority of Chinese consumers who have one or both of Alipay and Wechat Pay. Alipay has 520m customers<sup>1</sup> and Wechat Pay records approximately 1bn customers<sup>2</sup>. The availability to these extra consumers should continue to drive the very strong growth of the chinapayments.com processing.

Novatti is focussing on building trust with these growing numbers of Chinapayments.com customers with a view to transitioning them to banking services in the future.

Chinapayments.com enables expenses such as university fees, rent, phone bills, utility bills and other Bpay bills to be paid using Alipay. A typical use is where it enables parents of Chinese students in Australia to pay bills for their child's education.
